

REQUESTING ASSISTANCE

Our Precious Hearts Program provides financial assistance for qualifying families who have experienced stillbirth or the loss of an infant under one year of age.

Through this program, Too Precious for this World may assist with expenses related to:

- * Funeral or Burial Services
- * Cremation

HOW IT WORKS

After we receive a Request for Assistance (RFA) form, our team carefully reviews the information to confirm eligibility and better understanding your needs.

We then connect with both the family and the service provider (such as the funeral home) to verify account details, confirm current balances, and walk through how our support works.

In case of stillbirth, our team thoughtfully assesses each situation to determine how we can best support your family, guided by our care standards and available resources.

Please Note:

- Too Precious is unable to reimburse families for expenses that have already been paid.
- If your request meets eligibility requirements, we will continue processing and coordinate the disbursement of funds.
- Our contribution is always applied as the final payment on the account. Families will need to coordinate their payments directly with the service provider.

Too Precious for this World is a volunteer-led organization. While we strive to process every request as quickly as possible, timelines may vary. We truly appreciate your patience as we work to support each family with care and intention.
